Governor Hears Young's Answers

Ouster Move Points Up 'Difference Among Lawyers,' Attorney Claims; Peterson Decision Still Awaited

BY ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Was it a "technical" violation of the law for Blaine Young, member of the liquor commission, to accept insurance commissions as a broker when applications and renewals were made to the general agent of the company with instructions that credit was to be given Young?

Gov. Val Peterson heard Young's response Monday afternoon before a standing room crowd in the hearing room. More than one-fourth of the members of the legislature attended. Decision of the governor will not be announced for several days.

Posing the question, Francis Gaines of Omaha, close friend and attorney for Young, said that in his opinion it was not a violation, and he had so advised Young. He said he disagreed with the attorney general in this respect.

Read Telegram
Gaines read a telegram from Attorney Richard E. Robinson of Omaha in which he disagreed with the attorney general and requested leave to file opinions from other lawyers who disagree.

Young was the only witness to be questioned. After the questioning, Gaines said there was no "tactical situation showing cause and effect" entering the discussion of the meaning of the law.

Not Law

The governor made inquiry of the attorneys if the opinions of the attorney general do not have the force of law until decided otherwise by the courts. This Gaines emphatically denied.

"It is not mandatory upon you to accept the opinion of the attorney general," he said. "You have discretion."

Gaines insisted that Young had committed no intentional wrong and that only an Omaha newspaper and one or two others so construed it.

Young in his questioning briskly denied that he had done anything to warrant his removal from office. He insisted that he had solicited none of the 33 licensees for business, except the original solicitation he made of them before he was named to the commission.

Young said he had refused all offers of insurance business when friends called or asked him to come to their place of business to prepare applications, as he considered that to be solicitation.

Young explained, as he did before the legislative committee, that he began "brokering" his business through agencies before he went on the commission and that it would sometimes be 60 days after a policy was renewed before he knew of it.

"Since you went on the commission, have you ever been influenced in any way in your actions by the fact these policies were written?" Gaines asked.

"Certainly not," Young bluntly replied.

At Conventions.

He was questioned as to whether members of the commission do not attend conventions of the liquor industry and partake of the hospitality. He said that had always been true to the best of his knowledge.

Gaines later said for Young, "There is no record of any improper action on his (Young's) part in any connection," and asserted the opinion of the attorney general was "a strained construction."

Young estimated that premiums on all of the insurance carried by liquor licensees in Omaha would amount to between $750,000 and $1,000,000 yearly. The premiums for the year as reported to the governor were about $2,400 and included one, three, and five year policies.

There was deposited in the record of the meeting a petition from 110 licensees received by the governor. It stated that while the members of the commission "have been firm," they have been "fair and impartial in judgments and decisions."

Watershed Bill Encounters Bitter Wavering Opposition

BY HOMER FINE
(Farm Editor, The Star)

Some of the most bitter opposition to L.B. 455, the watershed bill now before the legislature's public works committee, that has been displayed so far came up Monday night at the Waverly schoolhouse during a meeting aimed at "promoting" the bill.

Nearly a hundred farmers from the Waverly vicinity, most of them in Ag-Vet classes, gathered to hear officers of the Salt-Wahoo association, sponsors of L.B. 455, speak in behalf of the bill and answer questions.

Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln, co-chairman of the Salt-Wahoo association and introducer of the watershed district bill; Raymond McConnell, co-chairman with Liebers; and Stan Matzke, secretary of the association, said there was need to control floods and described provisions of the proposed watershed district bill.

Same Powers
Senator Liebers, in pointing out that L.B. 455's proposed powers are not new, said: "Some of the districts that have the same powers are irrigation, public power, drainage, reclamation, counties, cities, weed districts, pest, beet sugar and sanitary districts and the flood control act."

"The pest districts can fine you and put you in jail," Liebers declared, and the sanitary district has spent "a total of $1,800,000 to date and have asked for an increased mill levy."

Lancaster County Commissioner Chris Kuhner started the flood of questions about L.B. 455 and some of its sponsors by quizzing Senator Liebers about the percentage needed to organize a district under the bill.

McConnell had said organization of a district would be by "petition signed by 15 per cent of the qualified electors in the district proposed."

Kuhner asked: "Has the bill been changed?"

Liebers replied: "It hasn't been revised to 15 per cent."

Promoters of L.B. 455 were promptly charged with trying to force watershed districts on the people by 8 per cent, since only about half of the electors voted for governor to become the "qualified electors."

Liebers indicated that it was understanding of the problems of the Far East."

All four of her sons are presently attending universities in Nebraska and in the east. Robert P. Gentry is a pre-med student at Nebraska Wesleyan and will enter medical school in June, 1951. Mrs. J. The seven-mile route from Pearl Harbor into the outskirts of Honolulu was lined with cheering men, women and children.

"Here he is! There he is!" the Hawaiian mixed populace shouted.

The public demonstration was the first of many to be accorded the 71-year-old veteran of a half century in the army. Others await him in San Francisco, Washington and New York.

Waves To People
MacArthur waved frequently to the cheering people. He seemed to warm to the occasion and smile more frequently as he saw the crowds grow in number nearer Honolulu's city limits.

The procession stopped at an amphitheater. There MacArthur was given the honorary degree of doctor of laws by the University of Hawaii.

Mrs. MacArthur, petite and smiling in a purple suit, was first off the plane upon arrival. Young Arthur, who followed his famous parents, wore a small beanie cap and a red jacket.

Aggressive air force police, under orders to keep civilians at a 70-foot distance, roughed up a dozen photographers attempting to get unobstructed views of the general's arrival.

Newsmen and radiomen could see nothing of the greetings behind a closely guarded stockade.

Associated Press photographer Paul Strong reported one photographer was literally pitched through the air.

MacArthur paid no attention to the row, a few feet away from him, and smilingly shook hands with Adm. Radford, Gov. Stainback and Army Secretary Pace.

MONTEREY, Calif. — (AP) — The army said it still had no word Monday as to where Dick Contino, popular young accordionist, might be.

Contino, 20, who recently has had night club and theater dates in Los Angeles, for from $2,500 to $4,000 a week, was sent to nearby Fort Ord last Thursday by his draft board in Burbank.

Within a few hours, the army said, the musician disappeared. His bed hadn't been slept in. The induction had been set for Friday morning, but Contino didn't answer roll call.

Lt. Col. Max R. Shostak, executive officer, said he wasn't much worried, that "it's strictly a matter between him and his draft board."

Congress Awaits Story From Deposed M'Arthur

Hawaii Cheers MacA

Doug's Party Pauses In Honolulu; Departs For Frisco Tuesday

HONOLULU — (AP) — Hawaii gave Gen. MacArthur a hero's welcome Monday on American soil.

It was the first unfolding of America's public fanfare for the general on his flying return home to present his side of the Asiatic policy controversy before Congress Thursday.

The five-star general, relieved from his commands by President Truman, was paraded in Honolulu through crowded streets Monday evening.

It started more than 12 hours after he arrived with his party by plane from Tokyo where he got a sendoff ovation from the Japanese people and the allied forces.

Tuesday he flies on to San Francisco, returning to an American mainland he hasn't seen in 14 years; there he is to be publicly acclaimed Wednesday. Then he proceeds to Washington where he will address a joint meeting of Congress Thursday at 11:30 a.m. (CST).

General Places Wreath
His first stop on Monday afternoon's public appearance was at the Punchbowl national cemetery. There he placed a wreath in honor of his heroic dead.

For a full minute he stood in silence with his Hawaiian host, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Pacific commander.

The seven-mile route from Pearl Harbor into the outskirts of Honolulu was lined with cheering men, women and children.

"Here he is! There he is!" the Hawaiian mixed populace shouted.

President Not Expected To See Doug Unless He Asks For Appointment; Gen. Vaughan Is Assigned To Meet Him At National Airport

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congress whipped through formal arrangements Monday for Gen. Douglas MacArthur to tell his story to a joint meeting—and by radio and television to the nation—shortly after 11:30 a.m. (CST) Thursday.

And senate republicans, voicing delight at the prospect of hearing MacArthur, called unanimously for an all-out congressional investigation of the Truman administration's foreign and military policies.

GOP objections to the Truman program mounted to a roar of protest with the president's dismissal of MacArthur last week, and the deposed general's flight to Washington (he's due here early Thursday) fanned the flame of controversy to a new peak.

New Developments
A kind of "MacArthur fever" swept the capital Monday. It brought these developments:

1—The house agreed unanimously to a joint meeting with the senate to hear the general on Thursday. Senate agreement to move into the house chamber for the speech is just another formality. It will be voted on Tuesday.

2—Thirty-three senate republicans agreed at a closed meeting to back the proposed investigation of Truman policies all over the world "in the light of Gen. MacArthur's dismissal." Backers of the movement said they had a two-house inquiry in mind.

3—Mr. Truman assigned his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, to meet MacArthur at National airport. It looked as if the president would not see MacArthur unless the general asked for an appointment, and the White House said he hasn't asked for one yet.

4—Plans were rushed for a big civic reception at the Washington monument. MacArthur messaged the committee that he would be "proud, and happy" to take part.

5—MacArthur also wired that he would be willing to testify before the senate armed services committee some time after his appearance at the joint session. The house armed services committee promptly voted to ask the general to appear before it as well.

In addition, Rep. Adair (R-Ind.) introduced a resolution calling for the dismissal of Dean Acheson as Secretary of State. And Rep. Bakewell (R-Mo) offered one to give MacArthur a special medal.

Rep. Crumpacker (R. Ind.) introduced a resolution for the removal of both Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall.

Referred To Committees
The resolutions were referred to committees. No early action was in prospect.

All told, MacArthur's scheduled visit was stirring up almost as much excitement as the inauguration of a new president. Members of congress were swamped with requests for tickets to the house gallery for the general's speech. The Statler hotel dusted off its plush presidential suite for MacArthur.

Back of all the furor was the great split over foreign policy. Thus MacArthur's appearance is expected to be a landmark in this new phase of the "Great Debate."

Reds Set Forest Fires To Blanket Movements
TOKYO — (Tuesday) — (AP) — A smoke screen pall rolled up over a 300-square mile area today in central Korea where Chinese reds set forest fires and burned smudge pots in efforts to mask what may be either a withdrawal or an impending attack.

A southerly wind at times opened clear spots in the smoke blanket.

Allied planes bombed and strafed these openings in support of advancing United Nations troops.

The protecting blanket of enemy-made smoke rolled up over an area about 30 miles wide and 10 miles deep.

The smoke pall extended 15 miles northwest of Yangku, one of the latest towns inside red Korea to fall to the advancing allies.

In western Korea, the town of Yonchon on the road to Chongju was abandoned by the reds. Allied troops had not yet occupied it but held high ground on all sides.

Rigid new censorship regulations ordered by the new supreme allied commander, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, forbade all references to the size and location of Chinese and North Korean reds.

Jensen Family Collects Phi Beta Kappas
The Jensen family of 1736 Q walked off with one-twelfth of the 24 Phi Beta Kappa keys handed out to honor students at the University of Nebraska Monday night.

Donald D. Jensen, 20, and his young wife, Janet, each received the coveted key to climax their membership in a long list of honorary scholastic societies at the university.

And Mrs. Jensen has an answer to dour critics of campus marriages. After their marriage last August, Mr. and Mrs. Jensen pooled their mental resources to study collectively, a process which has "improved grades considerably," Mrs. Jensen claims.

But it is probable that the grades of neither suffered prior to their marriage. Donald holds membership in Delta Sigma Rho, forensic honorary; Psi Chi, psychology honorary, and is a distinguished military student in ROTC.

Mrs. Jensen belongs to Phi Sigma Iota, Phi Lambda Theta, teachers college honorary, and Nebraska Masquers, theater honorary.

Donald is a native of Holdrege, and his wife is the former Janet Kepner of Osceola. They met while attending the university. In spite of their extraordinary college records, Mrs. Jensen expresses a common fear as graduation day approaches: "We're afraid of the draft."

Danish Farmers Arrive On State Tour

Seven Danish farmers between the ages of 20 and 30 years arrived in Lincoln Monday for a tour of the college of agriculture and the state capitol before starting a study of Nebraska's agricultural techniques.

The young farmers will study the state's mechanized agriculture, with emphasis on mixed livestock farms, dairy and swine.

One of the group, Theodor Jensen, will study the mixed livestock and dairy farming on the Art Wiechert farm on Route 1, Lincoln. Lancaster County Agent Verdon Petersen will take Jensen out to the Wiechert farm Tuesday morning.

Two of the young farmers will go to Dakota county, and one as guests of farm families. Each of the young men speaks at least four languages, English, Swedish, Danish and German included.

They are part of a group of 45 Danes who came to the United States to study our methods of agriculture. They came on an ECA-sponsored international exchange basis.

'Nationalized Medicine' Is Attacked Here

McPherrin Addresses Pharmacists

Creighton U. Doctor Outlines Body Stress

British-style "nationalized medicine" has resulted in much "human greed and selfishness," John W. McPherrin, business editor of "American Druggist," Monday told the 68th annual convention of Nebraska Pharmaceutical association at the Cornhusker hotel.

Highlighting topic speakers before the state pharmacists, McPherrin said that the "failure to realize that human nature doesn't change overnight has created grave problems for Britons."

He emphasized inability of the scheme to work in the United States, claiming that "our free competitive system seems to supply the only natural and effective curb on human greed."

The proposed American plan for nationalized medicine, which is the same as the British plan, "for all practical purposes," would bring greed to the surface, and result in "just as many costly abuses by patients, doctors, and druggists," he said.

Faith In People. Pointing out that "it is reassuring to know that America is founded upon radical faith in people," McPherrin denounced the British health plan as breaking down the spirit of the people.

"It is our immediate responsibility to see that no citizen is tempted to lose faith in himself. We must help and inspire each citizen to make himself a useful member of society, and thus achieve true security for himself and his family."

McPherrin appealed to the Nebraskaans that "we believe that America's 50,000 community druggists, not as democrats or republicans, can create enough alert voters among their 20 million daily customers to elect good candidates who think as they do."

Levine Talks. In the morning address before the convention, Dr. Victor E. Levine, Creighton university school of medicine, told the druggists that "our present way of living puts too much stress and strain on the body."

As a result of this taxation on the body, he said, heart disease, high blood pressure, stomach ulcers, diabetes, and allergy disorders such as hay fever result. The two body glands acting as buffers to take care of the stress and strain of modern living are the adrenal and pituitary glands. When these glands fail to accomplish proper adaption to conditions of strain, then supplemental hormones are needed.

This is where cortisone comes in, Dr. Levine said, in counteracting the effect of deficiencies in gland secretion. This comparatively new discovery, he pointed out, is only one of many new advances of medical science in the field of hormones.

A Rho Chi reunion dinner and a dance sponsored by Allied Drug Travelers concluded the second day of the convention.

Children Hospitalized In Accidents

Pair Pedestrian Mishaps Here

Two pedestrian accidents, spaced only two minutes apart, sent two Lincoln children to local hospitals Monday afternoon.

Sally Sundeen, 5, was reported in fair condition at Lincoln General hospital, where she was taken after being struck by a car at Thirtieth and Holdrege.

Sally, who lives on Route 4, suffered a broken left leg and skull bruises. Police said that she was carried 21 feet on the front bumper of a car driven west on Holdrege by Duane C. Haas, 23, of 3902 Madison.

The Sundeen child, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sundeen, was injured at 1:45 p.m.

Just two minutes later 3-year-old Mike Damian suffered slight head injuries when he ran into the side of a moving truck on Sixteenth street between Vine and Northside avenue.

Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Damian of 1434 North Twenty-fourth, was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital, treated and released.

The northbound truck was driven by LeRoy Rodgers, 28, 2611 K, police said.

School Bond Issue Meeting Thursday

Superintendent of Schools Steven Watkins will discuss the proposed $5,000,000 school bond issue to be put before the people of Lincoln in the May 1 general election, at an open meeting in the cafeteria at Northeast high school Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

that the legislation you describe will greatly improve the Nebraska primary referendum law," wrote Arthur Krock of the New York Times, who is a member of the Pulitzer prize committee which had previously commended the primary. Several other members of the committee are ill or out of the country, Williams said.

Convention Change Fails. The Ravenna senator was not as successful in attempting to knock out the pre-primary convention provisions in the state law. Sentiment expressed by members was that such a change should first be considered at committee hearings where the public could speak.

Reactivation 'Awaiting Approval'

Mayor Victor E. Anderson reported Monday that reactivation of the Lincoln air base by the Strategic Air Command is still being considered in Washington. Anderson made the comment after talking to City Attorney John Jacobson following the attorney's two weeks business session in the nation's capital.

"The reactivation of the air base is not dead," said Anderson, "and is just awaiting approval through the proper official channels."

Gas Rate Hike Asked. Jacobson also told the mayor and council Monday that Northern Natural Gas company of Omaha has filed a certification application before the federal power commission for an increase to 825 million cubic feet capacity per day.

Northern is presently operating on 600 million cubic feet output. They have asked for a 14.6 per cent increase in rates on that capacity but Jacobson did not comment on the possible effects on the wholesale rates of the newly proposed capacity.

Jacobson had previously reported progress made by the opponents to Northern's requested 14.6 per cent increase above and their 14 per cent increase based on their previous 450 million cubic feet capacity.

Northern will undoubtedly be granted an increase, said Jacobson, but not as much as they have asked for.

Crowe Again Is Methodist House Head

Prof. Lawrence K. Crowe of the University of Nebraska was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the university Wesley Foundation Methodist house Monday night.

Other officers named at the Foundation's annual meeting on the agriculture college campus are: Rev. Harold Sandall, vice president; and Mrs. Albert Hoesch, secretary.

William Croft of Uniontown, Pa., student president of the house, reported a marked increase of interest in the student house on the part of new students. He estimated that 300 university students are actively participating in the programs of worship, study and discussion.

Rev. Richard W. Nutt, Methodist university pastor, expressed satisfaction, in his report, on the increased student interest. He said the house is urgently looking toward the building of a student center as an enlargement to the present house.

A plan is being worked out for possible construction of the center within the next two or three years, Rev. Anderson said.

County Employees Favor Social Security Measure

In a mass meeting Monday night, approximately 175 Lancaster county employees demonstrated they favor adopting the social security plan.

Joseph Sewall, manager of the social security administration field office here, and Clarence Meyer, assistant attorney general, explained the structure of the plan.

The legislature recently passed a bill enabling state, county and municipal employees to be given social security benefits.

Following the talks, a voice vote was taken. Not a dissenting vote was heard.

Sewall explained that the benefits, given when the employee retires at the age of 65, are based on the average monthly earnings of the employee.

To be qualified for the retirement benefits, a wage earner must have worked within the plan for half the calendar quarters between Jan. 1, 1951 and the time he retires at 65.

Payment Basis. Payments are based on 50 per cent of the first $100 of average monthly salary plus 15 per cent of all wages above the first $100, up to a maximum of $300 monthly.

Thus, a qualified employee with a monthly average of $300 would receive $80 per month, and a worker with a $200 monthly average wage would receive $65 per month.

In addition, the employee's wife, upon reaching 65, may receive half what her husband receives, even though she has no social security credits.

The older county employees must work at least six quarters before being eligible for benefits. Sewall pointed out the plan is "very generous" to older employees.

Contribute Percentage. Through 1953, the employee would contribute one and one-half per cent and the county would match it. Over the years, the percentage increases until it reaches three and one-fourth per cent by 1970.

The plan would cost Lancaster county about $10,000 per year at first, since the county's annual payroll is about $660,000.

Commissioners Russell Brehm and Chauncey E. Barney did not indicate when the county will take action on the plan. A meeting with the state tax commissioner, city council and all village boards in the county is scheduled to be held first.

How Much Should We Be Controlled?

By J. Gordon Roberts

Scholars have pointed out that no more than 1,000 men have made the basic discoveries upon which our civilization rests.

From this, some totalitarianisms have concluded that the majority of man may possess the combined knowledge of several hundred or several thousand men—even though they may excel in certain vital-important specialized fields.

In England gasoline costs about 50c per gallon. An English dairyman told me that through selling electric refrigerators to customers, he could, conceivably, accomplish every-other-day delivery.

Through the savings on such delivery, he could, he said, finance the sale of the refrigerators.

But, he asked, what would be the incentive for taking such a credit-risk? The government might very possibly nationalize his industry the day he started such a program.

Those believing that all progress must stem from a few dis-courage any progress growing out of "Capitalism," the initiative of the individual not among the select.

Christ rejected the army as a means of spreading His thinking. Socrates, Newton, and others were too busily engaged exploring the world of thought to spend their time directing the habits of their neighbors. Had this not been the case, the 1,000 men responsible for our advance could hardly have achieved what they did. Such progress would not have been possible, unless accomplished by others.

Wherein lies the fallacy of such reasoning? In the first place, who is to choose the "few"? Most men claiming to be among the tyrannical-elite are simply sadistic egomaniacs whose real desire is to belittle others "in return" for some real or imagined slight in childhood.

The truly great thinkers of all time have refused to direct others by force. Disregarding the religious significance of such leaders for the purpose of this article, consider Jesus Christ and Buddha.

Progress, Benefits Of Credit Bureau Groups Outlined

Max Meyer, president of the credit bureau of Lincoln, outlined Monday night the progress and benefits of credit bureau organizations.

He spoke at a dinner-meeting of the Lincoln Retail Hardware association in the Lincoln hotel.

Retail credit has increased sharply in the past two years, Meyer said.

Contrary to the belief that big companies handle most of the nation's trading, Meyer pointed out, 85 per cent of business last year was handled by nearly two million small stores.

'Barefoot Legislator' Speaks In Lincoln

Urges More Participation In Politics

Miss Mary Shadow Addresses Legislature And Young Democrats

Using her own experiences in becoming Tennessee's only woman legislator, Miss Mary Shadow, the "barefoot legislator," Monday urged more active participation in politics in appearances before a young democrats luncheon and before the Nebraska legislature.

Miss Shadow spoke at a noon luncheon of the Lancaster County Young Democrats club at the Capital hotel and addressed the legislators during the morning.

In her campaign to become Tennessee's first woman legislator, Miss Shadow defeated the Crump political machine.

"Gettin' the nomination wasn't hard," she said. "The man had been in office 40 years and nobody thought he could be beat."

"Ah waged a blitzkrieg campaign," said the pretty 26-year-old. "No big speeches. Just stumpin' small groups of people at every single country store."

"That girl," it got so they called me "That girl" all over the county, she laughed.

Actually, Miss Shadow is not a Miss at all. "Ah didn't want to change mah political name right away until the people got to know me," she said.

Her husband is Professor David Hill, a nuclear physicist at Vanderbilt University in Nashville. During World War II he worked at the Argonne laboratories in Chicago.

She was given the name of the "barefoot legislator" when she started her campaign for a clean-up government of the Seed Tick community and the No 'Pone valley in the hills of eastern Tennessee.

"Ah don't actually go barefoot except on my father's farm in the summertime," she explained.

flicking out a slipper-shod foot for proof.

A Teacher Herself.

Miss Shadow is a teacher herself. She is now on leave of absence from Tennessee Wesleyan university at Athens, Tenn., where she teaches, quite naturally, political science.

"We had a hot time this year in our legislature, too," she said in her pleasant drawl. "There were fights over women on juries, a permanent registration of voters, and a new adoption law."

Of the curious name of her home, Miss Shadow explained it got the name during the Civil war, "when the folks were too poor to afford corn pone."

Also while in Lincoln Miss Shadow talked with Rev. G. H. Schroeder, pastor of the First Baptist church. The pair met last summer in Europe while on a study seminar.

Leo Chandler, acting president of the Lancaster County Young Democrats, presided over the meeting of 35. Guests were Charles Ledwith, young democrat state chairman, and Mrs. Frank Sorrell, national committeewoman for the group.

$2,325,000 Farm Fund Is Available

. . . To Nebraskans

About $2,325,000 remains available for lending to Nebraskans for the purchase of farms, livestock and fertilizer, or for soil reclamation work, Gov. Val Peterson told the legislature Monday.

The money is the remainder of a federal grant fund set up in trust for use in Nebraska in the early 1930's which congress has ordered liquidated.

The governor said that the money will go to the federal treasury if the legislature does not designate a Nebraska agency to enter into an agreement with the Federal Farmers' Home Administration.

The legislature appointed a committee consisting of Senators Hoyt, Kotouc, Prohs, Marvel and Shalla to study the matter and make a recommendation.

The FHA, Peterson, said, desires to use the remaining fund for lending. There are 600 Nebraska applications for loans on file.

The funds were first administered by the Nebraska Rural Rehabilitation corporation, then the Resettlement Administration, the Farm Security Administration and lastly the Farmer's Home Administration. About a year ago, congress ordered liquidation of the remaining trust funds.

Everybody Is Confused

BY J. E. LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The big story of Washington is missing from the headlines and the news columns. If General Douglas MacArthur, winging his way to this city, is conferring with any of the great and the near-great up on Capitol Hill, they are keeping mum about it. Chances are that if they took down their hair, they would confess that their excited, frantic calls to the general to find out what cooks, go unanswered.

Take the case of Senator Kenneth Wherry, of Nebraska, as an example. We called him early this morning. He was full of vim and energy. What part was he to play in the reception for General MacArthur next Thursday when the general lands here? There was a momentary pause in the telephone conversation. At this writing, Senator Wherry was not quite certain. His resolution for the congressional appearance of General MacArthur, up Tuesday, specifies that the majority and minority leaders of the senate and the house shall be in charge of arrangements for General MacArthur's appearance before congress. That would mean or could easily mean that Senator Wherry will be in the front ranks of the receiving committee greeting the general when he descends from the plane.

But to all outward appearances, General MacArthur is in contact with but one man—by telephone—former President Herbert Hoover. What is unfolding and what the American people may anticipate in the great debate in the week ahead is a conflict on one side, at least, of old and weary ideas with a new-made world. There is more in General MacArthur's crusade. It is not too much to say, it would seem, that America's military hero has reached the conclusion that the fate of the world has huddled an old sea, the Atlantic—jumped two, in fact—and rests in the Far East. Give him credit for that. Whether you agree with him or disagree, you can get down that he is coming back home to argue his case with all the persuasiveness and eloquence at his command.

That involves much more than can be projected in a few sentences. It involves the old orient, and an awakening Far East. It could embody the clash of old imperialism and new ideas of freedom for huge masses within Asia. The position of former President Hoover in all of this matter is far from clear. Upon one point, at least, MacArthur and Hoover see eye-to-eye and that is America's contribution to the defense forces and of the free peoples of western Europe. They challenge the military leadership here; they particularly challenge General Eisenhower's mission.

On the first day of the week, we ask what seems to us to be the one important question in this controversy. Can the American people be reunited on the issue of foreign policy? From angry cries and loud exaltations that at long last Mr. Truman had come to the end of the road in the Korean adventure, the president has poured a couple of buckets of ice water on his critics in the last 48 hours. One, so typical of the man, was his order to Speaker Rayburn to arrange for the house to fall in line back of the plan of giving General MacArthur a hearing before congress. The other was the president's quick answer placing the republican leadership in the role of a war party, a role it most wanted to avoid. Result: there was a notable dampening of the fires burning fiercely on the hill and a new spirit of caution.

In all the somber atmosphere of a grim MacArthur returning to the battle here at home, there were some chuckles. Nebraskans may have forgotten that in 1948, one of the chief drum-beaters for MacArthur for president was the 4th district representative, Rep. A. L. Miller. We tried to reach him but he was out. If Miller and a hundred others have been able to talk with General MacArthur since the latter's dismissal last week, they are keeping very quiet about it. One Nebraskan, Hugh Butler, due to earlier plans will be pulling out of Washington just about the time General MacArthur is pulling in. Butler has a 1,000-plate dinner at York, two other engagements, and a lot of people to see back home. While marking time, the Nebraska delegation had as its guests the Nebraska delegates to the D.A.R. convention at breakfast. The big day was ahead and only the absence of sunshine could interpose itself to make it one of Washington's biggest.

Nebraska's Pension Problem

We think the present Nebraska unicameral legislature has taken a long step forward towards solving in sensible spirit one of the most difficult problems that has camped upon its doorstep in recent years.

When Governor Val Peterson signed LB 265, providing social security coverage for state employees, and a companion measure allowing cities and villages to set up social security coverage for their employees, there appeared to be an answer, and a sensible one, to the mounting demands of public employees for pensions. The action, of course, enables Nebraska to tie into the federal social security program amended by the 81st congress. Previously that program contained no provision under which state or municipal employees could qualify for social security benefits. The danger, a growing danger, was a multiplicity of pension plans, creating rivalries and discontent among groups of workers.

And yet it was manifestly unfair to any man or woman in subordinate positions in public service who devote a lifetime to the job to be excluded from the federal social security program, or if excluded, to be left out in the cold without any provision for retirement. Under the federal social security program, each individual will make his contribution, and the state or the municipality contributes an equal amount. It will cost, but in the long pull we are inclined to believe that in the light of a mounting tide of demands for retirement programs, it is a step in the direction of economy. There can be no effective argument justifying pensions for one class of public employees, denying other groups of workers the same benefits. And in the end, if a wide variety of individual pension plans were to be established, they would crash of their own weight ultimately.

This places workers, public and private, on a basis of equality in the matter of retirement benefits. We think the legislature acted wisely, and that its foresight will relieve future legislatures of an issue that has consumed an increasing amount of the legislature's energies.

Rev. Trago McWilliams, Sr.

Lincoln lost another of its prominent Negro leaders Sunday, the second in the past few months, when the Rev. Trago McWilliams, sr., died after several months of illness.

Rev. McWilliams had quietly gone about organizing civic groups that are doing much for the welfare of his people. For the many years he was minister of Lincoln Christ Temple church, he demonstrated tenderness, love and wisdom towards all and especially toward young men, befriending many in guidance and sharing his home with them.

Ordained in the ministry in 1922, Rev. McWilliams became a leader and organizer. He was active in the Lincoln Urban League and the Lincoln Civic and Improvement league. For this work he was recognized by Gov. McMullen and Mayor Frank Zehrung by being named the Nebraska delegate at the Educational Council in Kansas City, Mo.

His many contributions to his fellowmen and to his city will long be remembered.

End Of A Hunt

The Stone of Scone, a 485-pound chunk of sandstone, has been returned to its place in Westminster Abbey, thus ending—temporarily, at least—a dramatic and sometimes humorous episode in British history. When the fabulous relic, which has served as the coronation stone of British kings since 1296, was tugged into the Abbey by a group of nervous policemen, the climax was reached in a frantic search which began last Christmas day. Where the stone has been kept and how it was retrieved remains a mystery.

No arrests have been made, and there is some speculation that none will be made. Scotland Yard may have been ordered to let sleeping dogs lie, or returned stones be forgotten, rather than stir up the extreme Scottish nationalists by legal action. The stone is back, Scotland Yard did its job, the Scots publicized their demand for home rule, and everyone can relax now.

No Pollyanna Talk

State-federal Agricultural Statistician A. E. Anderson always has his feet on the ground. A conscientious, seasoned observer, Mr. Anderson calls 'em as he sees 'em, and he is surprisingly right most of the time. There was a lot of encouragement against a rather drab national background in Mr. Anderson's latest report on the condition of the Nebraska winter wheat crop. He estimated that come next June and early July, Nebraska wheat-growers will harvest 91 million bushels of the bread grain, the second largest crop on record. A lot can happen between now and the time when the combines will take to the field, but it was noteworthy that a cautious man was inclined to dis-

—Washington Merry-Go-Round— REPUBLICANS FEAR MacARTHUR ISSUE MAY GET TOO HOT

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — In private caucuses congressional republicans haven't been quite as outspoken for General MacArthur—or against President Truman—as in their public statements. Some have feared the MacArthur issue, unless carefully handled, might backfire and give the public the impression that republican chiefs favor a third world war.

Congressman A. L. (Doc) Miller of Nebraska warned of this at the first caucus of house republicans. "We must not leave ourselves open to democratic charges that we are subscribing to a war policy by defending MacArthur," Miller cautioned. "In inviting the general back here, it should be made clear that we are not necessarily confirming his policy on the Far East until we have heard his story."

Congressman Fred Coudert of New York backed Miller, as did several others, including Congressman Jack Javits of New York.

"The American people," Javits cautioned, "have a right to hear MacArthur's side of his conflict with Truman and it is right that we should invite him to Washington to express himself. At the same time I think we ought to make it clear that we republicans do not approve of military leaders dictating to civilian authorities."

At another closed-door conference with the house GOP policy committee, Joe Martin also rejected the idea of trying to impeach the president.

"We don't have the votes," explained the ex-speaker. "Any way, it might be difficult to prove illegality in the president's removal of a field commander."

However, some republicans have expressed concern lest MacArthur himself be subjected to court-martial if in his speech in Washington he strongly assails his commander-in-chief and the government's Far East policy—and contributes to national disunity by so doing.

They don't believe the Truman administration would have the courage to initiate such a court-martial, however. Also Rep. John Vorys of Ohio, rated an authority on constitutional law, thinks MacArthur can speak out with impunity.

Georgia's gruff Congressman Carl Vinson got the first news of MacArthur's ouster in a 1 a.m. phone call from General Bradley. As chairman of the powerful house armed services committee, Vinson is handled with kid gloves by the brass. He has important legislative power over their policies, so Bradley wanted to be sure Vinson got the MacArthur news before reading it in the papers.

At 1 a.m., therefore, Bradley got Congressman Vinson out of bed.

Washington Calling

NO CHANGE EXPECTED IN U.S. FOREIGN POLICY TOWARD JAPAN

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — A few hours after the dramatic White House announcement of General MacArthur's dismissal, President Truman summoned John Foster Dulles from the state department. The president told Dulles he wanted him to go to Japan immediately to push as hard as possible for a peace treaty with the Japanese.

Marquis Childs

Behind the urgency of this request was a deep concern over Japanese reaction to MacArthur's removal. If it was a shock in this country, it exploded with the force of a bombshell in Japan and particularly among middle and upper class groups that have looked to America for protection from communism and for economic stability.

The reaction has in fact been far more serious, according to confidential reports to Washington, than the news has indicated. The Japs have traditionally bowed to authority and General MacArthur had become a kind of second emperor; a symbol of power and security. It was even feared that the government of Premier Yoshida might fall as a consequence of the news.

After Dulles had heard the president outline this newest mission to Japan, he hesitated for a moment. Both men seated in the quiet of the president's oval study were aware of the extreme difficulty and gravity of the assignment. In the vacuum left by MacArthur's departure, a multitude of problems, both military and diplomatic, would have to be solved.

Dulles replied that he was willing to go but he wanted to be reassured that there was no change in American policy with respect to Japan and the far east. In pushing for a peace treaty at the earliest opportunity, he has been determined not to permit Russian obstructionism to stand in the way of a settlement. He does not believe, as the British seem to, that communist China should be permitted to take part in decisions on the treaty.

The president responded with great calmness. He said there was no change whatsoever in the basic policy of the American government. He gave his special ambassador full power to proceed with a Japanese treaty along the lines he has been following.

In the way in which he has proceeded to try to bring order and stability in the Pacific through a union of non-communist powers, including Japan, Dulles has given one of the few examples of constructive statesmanship in the postwar world. Secretary of State Acheson gave his republican adviser virtually a free hand on Japan. And instead of waiting to react against communist action, as has happened more often than not in other parts of the world, Dulles has gone ahead with constructive program intended to integrate Japan into the society of free nations not later than the end of this year.

This is the third time in less than nine months that Dulles has made the long and wearying flight to Tokyo. He was at MacArthur's headquarters when the North Korean communists launched their attack on the South. Korean republic last June. Returning to America, he expressed the belief that the United Nations would meet aggression with force.

His second trip began shortly after the first of this year. Five weeks were spent in laying the groundwork for a Japanese treaty and a possible future Pacific defense pact with all the nations involved. Besides Japan, Dulles visited Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines. He expressed the hope at the end of his tour that a treaty might be concluded not later than midsummer.

If he had permitted political considerations to sway him, Dulles might have hesitated about going on this third assignment for another reason. He went into the state department at the request of his good friend, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan. The ailing Vandenberg made it a specific condition of a continuing bipartisan approach to foreign policy that Dulles be made one of Acheson's chief advisers. Several other republican names had been suggested after Dulles' bitter and unsuccessful contest with Herbert Lehman for the New York senate seat in the fall of 1949, but Vandenberg insisted on Dulles.

Now, however, extremists in Dulles' party are out to destroy anyone who tries to work with the administration toward a constructive foreign policy. Dulles knew that the attacks would be tripled and quadrupled in the context of the MacArthur controversy. Yet he went, and he went, in my opinion, because he has a deep sense of responsibility in a world torn with dissensions that threaten utter destruction. It sometimes seems as though the extremists here at home were perfectly willing to bring on this destruction. If only they can heap the blame on Truman and Acheson, they seem ready and even eager to embrace any calamity. And correspondingly they vilify any and all, regardless of party or conviction, who work constructively for stability.

Old Star Building
Is A Quiet Place

JOHN ROHRIG . . . misses the "Boys" at the new offices.

IT'S awfully lonely over in the old Lincoln Star building for 63-year-old John Rohrig, custodian there for 28 years. He can't wait until the old building is completely cleared and he can join the "boys" at the new offices.

Mr. Rohrig, whose son is Herman Rohrig, Rose Bowl football player for Nebraska in 1941, was 68 Saturday. "All the children that could come home for the occasion," he said, "that meant Mrs. Rohrig just barely had time to talk between checking the angel-food birthday cake and fresh fry bread in the oven."

In spite of the fact that, temporarily, John can't be with the "boys" at the paper, he proudly pointed out birthday cards each had sent for the occasion. "Twenty-eight years work like that and they all remembered me," he said.

THE job he now holds, he explained, is the second he has had in this country.

"When I first work here," he said, "I help on press half a day; work half as janitor." The lonely days he is now spending as custodian of the old building are pretty dismal for Mr. Rohrig. But he knows he is the only one capable of watching the equipment. "I know the place best of all," he said, "but the loneliness is the worst."

"Sometimes some of them come over to see me," he said. "Sometimes they even bring me coffee. Those are the good days."

The big concern of Mr. Rohrig is what they would do if something went wrong in the new building and he wasn't there to fix it.

"What if the pipes broke or something," he said. "What would they do?"

SO John Rohrig, who lives in a neat little house at 1218 So. 6th street, is just waiting until he can really get back on the job. "The best time I ever had," said Mr. Rohrig, "was when the paper sent me to the Rose Bowl to see Herman play. I got to ride on the train right along with the boys in the band. Everyone did what they could for me. And then I got to sit right down with the boys. Yes, that was a good time."

THE MACARTHUR QUESTION

Wilber, Neb.

To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: The statement of President Truman on foreign policy and the removal of General MacArthur was without doubt the clearest, most concise and understandable statement of policy ever issued. To the unbiased and reasonable person, the statement makes a great deal of sense. It is surprising the number of politicians and individuals that were critical of our ever fighting in Korea, who now wish to expand the war to China as urged by General MacArthur. We can only feel that it is not a love for General MacArthur that they now support his policies, but a hatred for the president. General MacArthur is the only general blessed with a two-star general for a secretary and publicity agent; his military failures have been cleverly covered up by releases from his own command. His campaign in Korea was without much success until General Ridgway was placed in command of the troops. Yes, he left the islands for safety, but now he openly flouts the commands of his superiors.

A SUBSCRIBER.
Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: I deeply regret that Stalin's greatest victory was given to him practically single-handed by one man, and that man, Harry Truman, happens to be president of the United States. I refer to his seemingly unwarranted, unnecessary and highly dangerous dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur as supreme allied commander of our army.

However, victories off the battlefield are just as important as those on the battlefield. General MacArthur will go on helping his country because he loves his country. Troublesome circumstances will not deter him for he has a faith of divine quality and faith is what wins victories.

What Harry Truman has actually done is to open the door of the White House to General MacArthur as it has never been opened before. Whether he chooses to enter it in 1952 remains to be seen.

As a service to the people, the Nebraska "MacArthur for President" movement was not disbanded. As chairman for Nebraska, I shall do all possible to further the interests of General MacArthur for president, for we need him now as never before.

With Douglas MacArthur as president, we would exist as a nation with pride, dignity and courage, not cowardly appeasement.

"WORLD COURT" REPORTING

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: I wish to express my appreciation to you for your splendid coverage of the session of the model "World Court" as conducted last week on the university campus. I regard it as significant, and to no little extent a result of preceding publicity that, despite a heavy rain, the attendance at the hearing this year was at least three times as great as last year. In the audience, there were more mature people and more students than last year. May I also commend you on the accuracy of the reportorial job in presenting the facts of the case.

THE ROOSEVELT ERA

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Late elections insure continued democratic control of both the senate and house of representatives in the 82nd congress. This is the result of hard, devoted work, often at the cost of personal sacrifices by democratic party workers and leaders. Our candidates discussed issues and refrained from mud-slinging tactics. Our party has had such a program backed by performance since 1932. The troubled world conditions have made it necessary to press ahead without faltering to build up military strength and help other free nations increase their own defense against aggression. Our democratic national, state and county organizations are now efficient instruments for achieving and implementing the goals of our party as set forth in our platform and implemented by the program of President Truman and our national democratic administration. Our party organization, national, state and county, must remain strong and effective, and that can be done only through the continued efforts of each of us.

Older voters will never forget the national conditions that faced our nation at the end of the Hoover administration, and, under President Roosevelt, the rapidity with which his plans to give every citizen a chance to have a job and earn money to support himself. Agriculture, industry, labor and other organizations backed the president, and the desperate situation was quickly carried out under the leadership of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

J. R. FARRIS
WASHOUT

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: Speaking for myself only and as I see it, this session of the state legislature has up to date been a complete flat washout. That states my reaction to the most of the work it has done. There may be one or two exceptions, but that is it, as a whole.

ISAAC B. FLINT

THE CIO IN THE SOUTH

Greenwood, S. C.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The attempt of the CIO to gain a foothold in the textile industry of the south is to be deplored. The labor unions have in late years turned to politics instead of sticking to old trade union policies which had proven beneficial.

I FEEL FOR IT
As I was walking down the street
A temptress bold I chanced to meet.
A temptress, brazen as could be,
Who threw a brown-eyed wink at me.
And from her lovely lips I'll swear
This salutation came: "Hi there!"
Omit one word from it I did.
For what she said was: "Hi there, kid!"
Now that's the language of the street
Whenever man and temptress meet.
So promptly I replied in kind:
"Hi, beautiful! What's on your mind?"
Said she: "I'm thinking we could go
To see a moving picture show
And after that, perhaps, could stop
And have a glass of straw-ry pop."
She gave a most delighted squeal
To hear me say: "You've made a deal."

won't mix
I'm sixty past and she's just six.

Cooper Foundation Gives $35,000 To 'F' Street Park

Nine Major Projects In Group Plan

Council Is Asked To Re-Name Recreation Area 'Cooper Park'

Announcement was made Monday by Thomas R. Pansing of a gift of nearly $35,000 by the Cooper Foundation for the development of F street park as a neighborhood family recreation area.

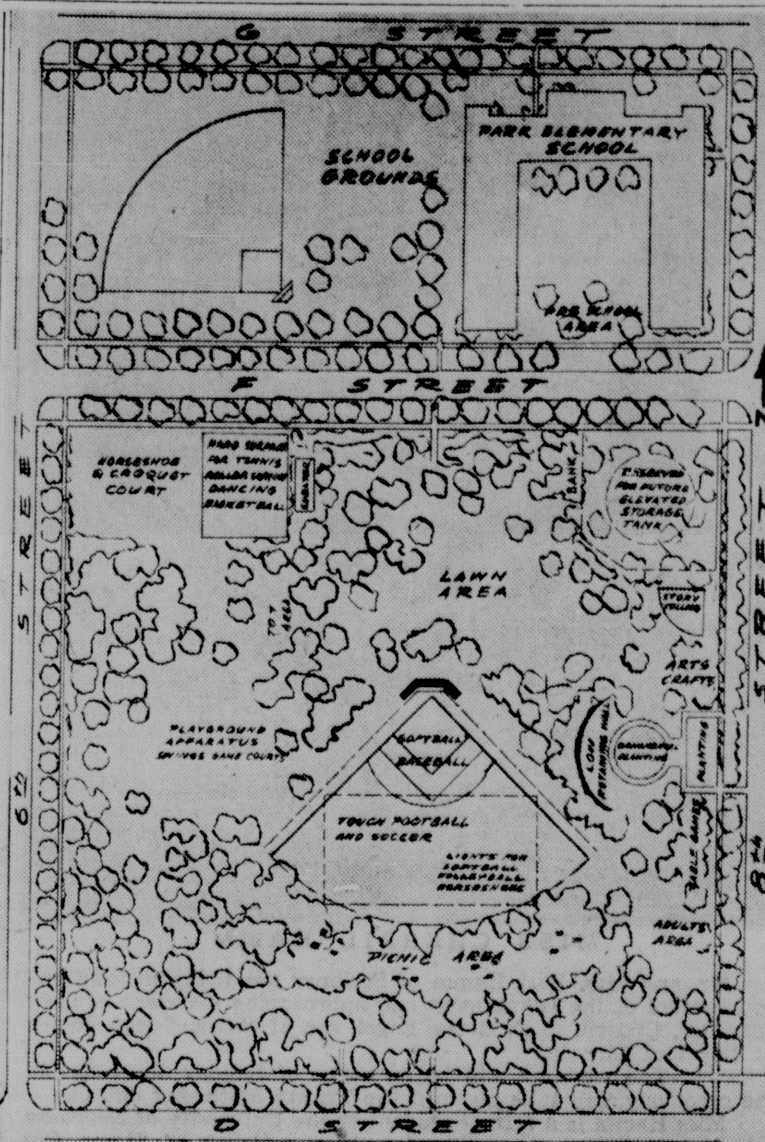

Pansing, chairman of the Lincoln recreation board, told the city council that the trustees of the Foundation hoped "that in showing what can be done through neighborhood recreation areas it will stimulate interest and developments in other parts of the town."

A similar gift was made by the Foundation in 1948 for a survey and long-range plan prepared for the recreation board by the National Recreation association. The plan is now being used in developing the Havelock, University Place and College View parks.

Summer Program

The F street park development, scheduled to begin this spring and to be finished this summer, includes the following work:

1. Grading of center part of park at a cost of $500.
2. A new baseball and softball diamond with back stop, fenced foul line and bleachers costing $2,100.
3. Children's playground equipment including a jungle gym, swings, merry-go-round, slides and a fenced tot area at a cost of $1,425.
4. An underground Buchner watering system.
5. Multiple purpose concrete area for tennis, roller skating, shuffle board, dancing, basketball, badminton, etc. costing $7,500.
6. Flood lighting system similar to Havelock system for the ball diamond and game courts.
7. Small game area construction for horseshoes, volleyball, croquet, etc., costing $575.

8. A 20 by 50 foot shelter building consisting of two enclosed rooms 20 by 12 feet on the north and south with toilets, equipment room and office. Two indoor fireplaces on the north and south inside walls of open roofed area would provide space for fall and spring steak fries with some shelter. The structure will be built of cement blocks with a rough brick veneer, concrete floors and rough rustic finish at a total cost of $12,500.

9. Landscaping costing $2,400.

Pansing told the council that recently various groups from the F street park area, sparked by the American Forward association, have been meeting with the city recreation leaders to organize a drive for enough money to accomplish only about a quarter of what the foundation will now make possible.

It is anticipated, he said, that this drive will be conducted as scheduled to obtain money for items not included in the present project.

Foundation Praised

In accepting and approving the $35,000 gift the council praised the work of the Foundation and expressed its gratitude to Pansing for the work he had done as a member of the recreation board.

Pansing, as a result of his retirement from the city council, will leave the recreation board as of May 7. He credited the accomplishments of the board in the past four years to individuals, interested organizations and Jimmy Lewis, city recreation superintendent, "whose abilities and accomplishments so greatly exceed the confines of his adequate salary."

"It is unfortunate that this city must turn to individuals and charities for handouts in order to

OPS Officials Here Tuesday For 3 Clinics

Two officials from the Omaha Office of Price Stabilization will be in Lincoln Tuesday to explain price regulations and answer questions at three clinics at the chamber of commerce.

Chamber Secretary Arch Baley said he arranged for the clinics because of the numerous questions asked by businessmen, most of whom are required to file questionnaires and schedules with the OPS office.

The two officials will be Henry Winters, counsel, and Mrs. Mary McAlister, business specialist.

The first session, at 10 a.m., will be primarily for manufacturers, wholesalers and service industries.

The next clinic, at 2 p.m., is for grocers, restaurants, retail petroleum dealers and garages.

The final session, at 7:30 p.m., will be for all other retailers.

No reservations are necessary, and there is no registration cost.

U. S. FINDS OUT HOW MILD A CIGARETTE CAN BE!

After All the Mildness Tests, CAMEL Leads All Others by Billions!

Latest Published Figures Show Camels have Greatest Lead in 25 years!

There have been quick tests, trick tests and the sensible, thorough 30-day test for determining the mildness of a cigarette. The smokers of America, eager to find out which cigarette suits them best, have tried many of these mildness tests.

Now, after all this mildness testing, Camel has its biggest lead in 25 years of cigarette history!

More people smoke Camels than any other cigarette by many billions of cigarettes per year! These statements are based on the latest published figures.

Find out for yourself how mild a cigarette can be. Make the thorough test of mildness. Smoke only Camels for thirty days. You'll enjoy every rich, flavorful puff. And you'll have proof of how mild Camels are, how well they get along with your throat!

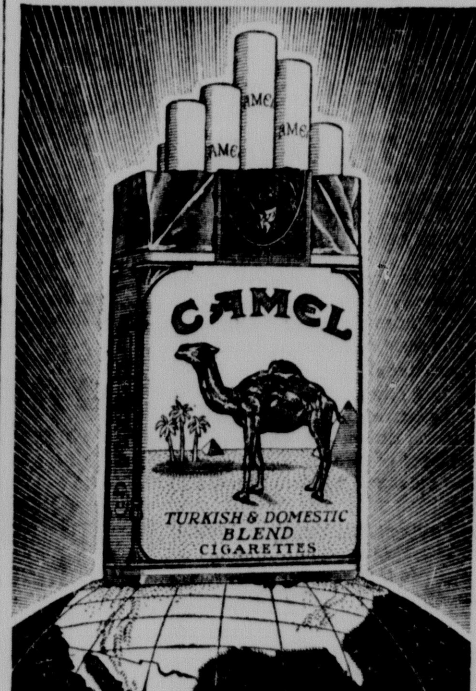

And you'll discover why Camel is America's most popular cigarette by many billions!

WHO IS THE BEST PITCHER IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE?

IS IT VIC RASCHI? Vic finished last year with a .724 record... Vic says the best cigarette in any league is Camel. "You can't beat 'em for flavor—and they're mild!"

COULD BE BOB LEMON. Bob won 20 or more games in each of the last three years! Bob, a converted infielder, has been converted to Camels. "Camels are great tasting and mild."

OR MEL PARNELL who won 25 games in 1949 and might do it again... Like so many baseball stars, Mel is a Camel smoker. "I like the taste and they get on fine with my throat."

C for Crawford...C for Camels. On the stage, "Goodbye, My Fancy" was seen by thousands; the movie version, with Joan Crawford as its brilliant, beautiful star, will be seen by millions! Miss Crawford enjoys the cigarette so many of her fans do—America's most popular cigarette, Camel. "Camels have a wonderful flavor and they agree with my throat."

NOTED THROAT SPECIALISTS REPORT IN COAST-TO-COAST 30-DAY MILDNESS TEST:

Not One Single Case of Throat Irritation due to smoking Camels!

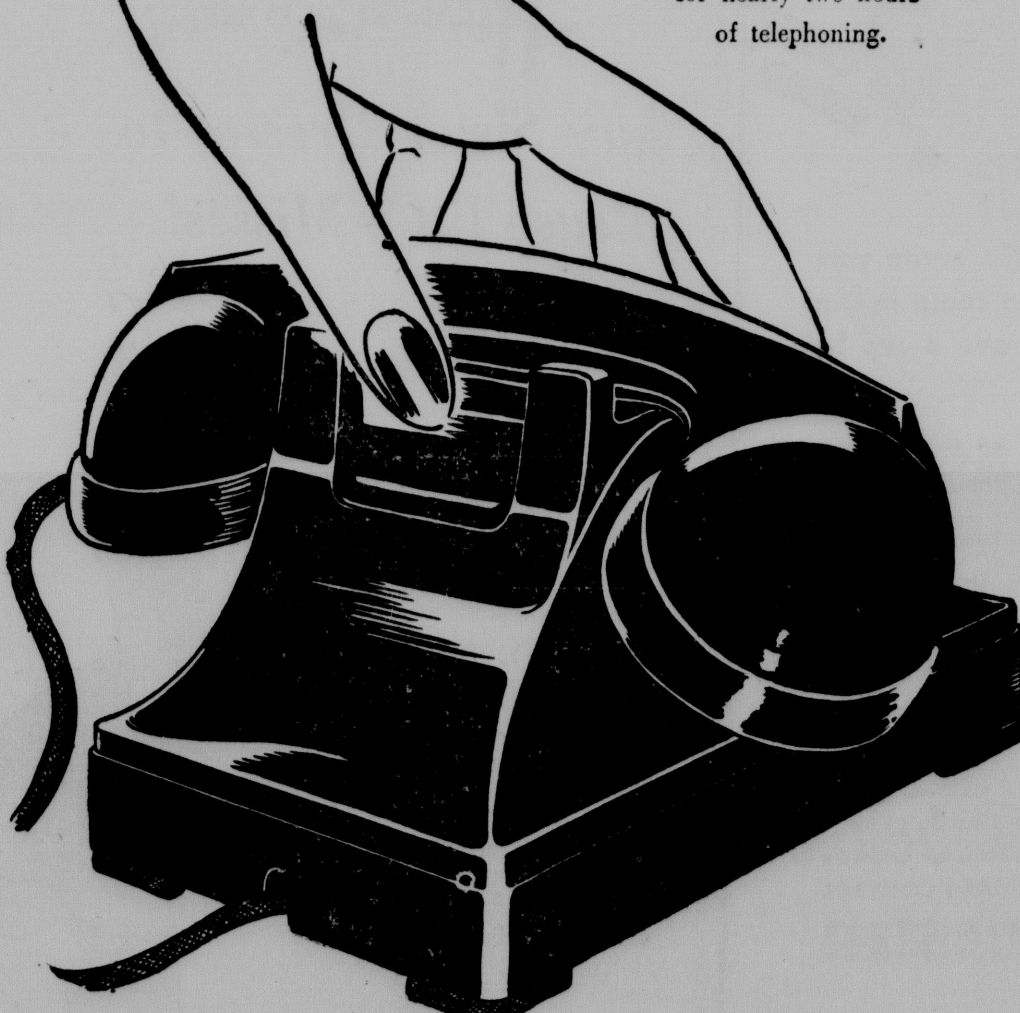

How thorough can a mildness test be? In a coast-to-coast test, hundreds of men and women smoked only Camels for 30 days. Each week, noted throat specialists examined their throats—2,470 examinations in all—and reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

A Precious Jewel in Every Ring

Time is always precious. That's why there is a gem-like quality to every telephone call. This modern convenience, perhaps above all others, is your greatest time saver. In business—in social life—in everyday living—in emergencies—you can depend upon your telephone for quick, efficient communication.

Yet for all this the cost is small. In the average home in Lincoln one penny pays for nearly two hours of telephoning.

Time Is Not A-Wasting

ALL SORTS OF THINGS are happening — wedding, date changed — Wedding invitations in the ayem mail — parties for a popular bride-to-be — guests departing — vacationers leaving — and of course, bridge groups — and dinners for this reason or that —

THAT WEDDING DATE we mentioned belongs to Jayne Carter and Lieut. Ernest Gotschall — The original wedding blueprint called for a ceremony on Saturday, May 26 — but Lieut. Gotschall has received overseas orders and the date has been changed to Saturday, April 28. The service will be solemnized at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at Westminster Presbyterian church.

SO NOW, IN ADDITION to classes and the rush of troussseau details there is a deluge of courtesies for Miss Carter — all, of course, within two weeks — The party whirl really began last Friday when Mrs. W. M. Stoner and Mrs. Hugh Sherwood were hostesses at a 10:30 o'clock coffee at the home of Mrs. Stoner. The guest list of fifteen included members of the family who presented Miss Carter with a miscellaneous shower.

THEN — ON SATURDAY Miss Carter was the incentive for the tea for which Mrs. W. C. Becker, Mrs. W. M. Stoner, Jr. and Mrs. Mendell Archerd were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Becker between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock.

Fifty guests were invited and during the tea hours were greeted at the door by Mrs. Wendell Nickerson and Miss Carolyn Carter. Presiding at the first hour at the refreshment table, arranged with a pink cloth and appointed with pink blossoms and pink tapers, were Mrs. A. J. Stenten and Mrs. Carl Ganz whose places were taken the second period by Mrs. George Misko and Mrs. John Selleck. Mrs. Hugh Sherwood was in charge of the dining room in the first hour and Mrs. Glenn Johnston, the second. Assisting in the serving were Miss Mary Reinhard, Mrs. Tom Podhasky, Miss Joan Selleck and Miss Jacqueline Sorenson.

ON WEDNESDAY EVENING Miss Carter will be complimented when Miss Adele Coryell and Miss Barbara Stephens are hostesses at the home of Miss Coryell and her mother will be "coffee" guests of Mrs. William H. Cartmell and her mother, Mrs. Richard Kimball, at Mrs. Cartmell's home.

RIGHT NOW WE WANT to tell you that invitations were out on Monday for the wedding of Miss Joel Bailey, Pi Beta Phi at the University of Nebraska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bailey of Omaha, and Lieut. Philip Grimm, Sig Alph at Nebraska and son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Grimm of Wyomissing, Pa. The wedding will be an event of Sunday, May 6, and the service will take place at the First Methodist church in Omaha. Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents.

SOMEONE TOLD US that Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Grainger left Monday morning for their home in Salinas, Cal., after a brief visit in Lincoln with Mrs. Grainger's mother, Mrs. C. F. Ladd — their daughter, Miss Lesley Grainger, who is attending the University of Nebraska — and Mrs. Grainger's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Woods.

MENTION OF MRS. LADD a moment ago reminds us that she, her sister, Mrs. M. Olive Watson, and Miss Rose Carson took off for the Ozarks on Monday. They plan to return home in about ten days.

The small-fry set is very happy indeed that Miss Linda Lew's birthday comes in April—if she had been seven years old in June, for example—or July, or even later—there would have been no birthday party. Miss Cora Mae Briggs, a member of the Lincoln club, was elected vice-chairman of Council Two for the coming year. Mrs. Helen Calcaterra of Lincoln acted as a teller for the speech contest.

DOWN TUCSON WAY

To all who hie themselves to Arizona for the winter, the above picture will be a typical scene—but to the rest of us who must endure the rain, sleet and snow of a Nebraska winter, it is something to dream about.

Anyway, we were particularly interested in the picture because it includes a former Nebraskan, Mrs. John F. Molloy (third from left), and a current guest in Lincoln—Miss Eva Jo Molloy—standing on the fence—Mrs. Molloy is the former Josephine Alexis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Alexis—and the small Eva Jo, naturally, is visiting her grandparents. Johnny Molloy is the realistic cowboy astride the pony—and we are told that that exceedingly serious look on his face is not a natural pose—he hasn't as yet recovered from the fact that it ALMOST was Eva Jo who was to ride the pony.

Also in the picture are Mrs. James Bartlett, sitting on the fence, and at extreme right, Miss Ann Laurie—names that may be familiar to those who spend their winters in Tucson.

Unicameral Club Bridge

Members of the Unicameral Ladies club met for 1 o'clock luncheon and an afternoon of bridge at the Hotel Cornhusker Monday afternoon. Mrs. George Syas and Mrs. Richard Moulton, both of Omaha, were hostesses and Mrs. R. W. Hill presided.

Mrs. Val Peterson was honored guest of the group. Out of town guests were Mrs. Norman Lenthauer of Beemer, Mrs. Fred Barnore of Lexington, Mrs. C. N. Snell of Omaha and Miss Jane Syas of Omaha.

Other guests for the afternoon were Mrs. James L. Brown, Mrs. W. H. Diers, Mrs. H. G. Greenanville, Mrs. Edwin Schultz and Mrs. Ray C. Johnson, all of Lincoln.

DAV Head Answers Peterson

'Did Not Indicate Open Gambling'

Challenge of Gov. Peterson issued to Earl B. Wright, adjutant of Disabled American Veterans, to tell where the governor had been where gambling was in progress was answered Monday.

"I desire to point out that the governor, a few months ago, attended a sports event at which time prizes were given away to holders of lucky program numbers which had been purchased," Wright said. "This type of promotion has been banned by the attorney general."

The governor's office said Monday night that the governor would have no comment until after he has read the Wright statement.

"At no time during the hearing did I indicate that the governor sanctioned open gambling," Wright continued. "I have no intention to discuss this controversial issue any further."

Wright said that he appeared before a legislative committee "as a citizen interested in good government," and opposed LB 536 introduced at the request of the governor.

"I do not condone gambling," he said. "However, I certainly am against the police state methods that are contained in LB 536."

"Under LB 536, privileges are denied, and a person is subject to administrative powers of the licensing agency. There are adequate laws on the statute books at the present time dealing with gambling," he commented.

History Of Clarke-McNary Tree Program Is Available

"Twenty-five Years of Clarke-McNary Tree Distribution," now available from county agents as E.C. 1728, tells the history of 24,527,351 trees planted in Nebraska since 1926 under the Clarke-McNary program.

The University of Nebraska college of agriculture extension service publication shows conditions that existed before the program was established, the progress of tree plantings in the state over the last 25 years, as well as pictures of some of the early leaders of the Clarke-McNary program.

From a start of 10,100 broadleaf and 23,000 evergreen trees planted in 1926 by 96 cooperators, the booklet shows the year by year progress through 1950, when 3,554 cooperators planted a total of 1,151,225 trees in the state under the Clarke-McNary program. Ten of the 25 years saw more than a million trees planted each year.

Tree nurseries, handling and shipping, tree uses and prices of evergreens and broadleaf seedlings under the program are also covered in the booklet. The last section gives a short history of 4-H club forestry projects since the projects were first offered in 1936.

Wilkinson Again Attacks Park Meters

City Councilman Rees Wilkinson Monday renewed his attack on what he terms the city's unfair tax system and the council's purchase of 350 Mark Time parking meters.

In referring to the interest rate paid on bonds issued and the charge on special assessment balances Wilkinson asserted that "The churches, small home owner and other real property owners have been robbed of hundreds of thousands of dollars by the present system of charging the prompt paying taxpayer six per cent for that which costs the city approximately one per cent."

On meters the councilman asked the council why a meter had been recommended at a cost of $57.50 when the same meter was purchased in Denver for $28.

Wilkinson asserted that both St. Joseph, Mo., and Denver are greatly displeased with the Mark Time meter and are replacing them as fast as possible. Also, he said, information as to the poor quality of the Mark Time meter has not been brought out in public by city officials.

While the council has accepted the bid of the M. H. Rhoads Inc. company for the purchase of the meters, no contract has been signed as yet. That action will await the outcome of a pending District court suit seeking to permanently enjoin the city from making the purchase.

Civilian, Military Needs Stressed At Nurses Meet

Statewide Conference Draws 125

Responsibility Of Red Cross Is Told

More than 125 representatives from Nebraska's nursing organizations met in Lincoln Monday for a statewide disaster nursing conference.

The conference, sponsored by the Lancaster county Red Cross chapter in co-operation with the Nebraska State Nursing association, was primarily concerned with co-ordinating nursing practices with civil and military needs.

At the morning session, Miss Helen Flanagan, director of the Red Cross area disaster nursing services, spoke on "Meeting the Nursing Needs in Time of Disaster."

Miss Flanagan interpreted the responsibility of the Red Cross disaster preparedness program and the part that the Red Cross will play in civil defense programs.

"The Lincoln area," said Miss Flanagan, "is very fortunate in having such a well-organized disaster chapter."

The St. Louis, Mo., woman reported that 43 nurses gave 413 hours of volunteer services during the 1950 flood in southeast Nebraska.

Following the luncheon meeting at the chamber of commerce, Mrs. Clarence Beck, state civil defense nursing representative to the medical health service committee, spoke on "The Nurse's Place in Civil Defense Planning."

"In the event of an atomic attack," said Mrs. Beck, "nurses will have to give services they have never given before. They will be called upon to care for thousands of victims in a very short time."

Course Outlined

At the afternoon session, Miss Emily Brickley, state director of public health nursing, outlined a new course on nursing aspects of atomic warfare to be given 30 Nebraska nurses.

The course will be given April 25-27 at the Lincoln hotel. All Nebraska nurses will be given an opportunity to take the course to be taught by the nurses attending the special classes.

Two films, "You Can Beat the A-bomb" and "Tornado Town," were included in the program. A discussion on preparedness, emergency service, and care and rehabilitation of victims was led by Miss Flanagan.

Presiding over the conference was Miss Ethel Murray, Lancaster county Red Cross disaster nursing chairman.

Wheat Bill Repealer On General File

... No Hearings

The bill to repeal the controversial wheat development law, which was passed, vetoed by the lieutenant governor and the veto declared a "nullity" by the attorney general, who also said the measure was unconstitutional, was placed on general file Monday.

The legislature by a vote of 29 to 0, the required majority, agreed that public hearings on the repealer were not necessary due to the hearing having been held on the original bill.

Senator Carmody, introducer of LB 1, told the legislature he had no objection to the repealer reaching the floor.

The Trenton senator later said that he figures the development plan might as well wait for a "more friendly" legislature and a more "friendly" group of top state officials.

He expressed the opinion that it might have been better to let the original bill stand a test in the courts on the constitutionality of he refund provisions.

Madrigal Group In New Sing Idea

The University of Nebraska Madrigal Singers will present "An Hours Recreation in Music" at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Student Union.

Under the direction of David Foltz, the singers will be seated around a table in traditional madrigal style. The listeners will be asked to think of the singing not as a performance but rather as a gathering of good friends to enjoy good music.

The musicians, a group of 22 students who sing for fun, will first do some of the madrigals which were popular in Shakespeare's day when "part" singing was as indispensable to a family as radio and television are now.

Their program will also include a number of more modern spirituals and folk songs.

The University Madrigal Singers were organized three years ago and have steadily gained a reputation as an outstanding choral group. They were chosen by the Columbia Broadcasting System to present a coast-to-coast program last Christmas. The Madrigals have recently made appearance in six Nebraska communities.

Admission to the concert is by ticket only. These are free and are available in limited quantity at the activities office in the Student Union.

A-Bomb Aid Classes Set For Doctors

A course of instruction in defense against atomic bomb attack will start Thursday at the University of Nebraska with 20 eastern Nebraska doctors and scientists as students.

State Civil Defense Director Edward Gillette said the first class will include representatives from Omaha, Lincoln, Nebraska City, Fremont, York, Crete, Columbus, Fairbury and Wahoo. The sessions are not open to the public.

The course will be taught by five University faculty members—H. M. McMaster, civil engineer, Dr. H. F. Holtzclaw, jr. and Dr. W. E. Miltzer, chemists, Dr. Theodore Jorgensen, jr., and day evening at the Y.W.C.A. Mr. Stoesz is chief of the regional nursery division of the Soil Conservation Service.

Emerson Jones, psychiatrists, and Dr. Marshall Neeley, Lincoln radiologist, and Mr. Gillette.

The first class will meet once weekly starting April 19 and conclude with a simulated bomb attack on May 26. The class upon conclusion of the course, will in turn conduct training sessions in their own communities. Additional classes to train instructors are scheduled to be held at the university.

The course is directed by H. M. McMaster, member of the civil engineering faculty of the University, who took a six-week course last year in defense against atomic attack at the atomic energy commission's laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The course is designed to provide Nebraska with the framework for civil defense corps against possible atomic attack. The corps will eventually total over a thousand persons. Omaha alone is required to develop a 500-man atomic attack defense group under present civil defense standards.

Ravens Irk Trappers

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—(AP)—Flocks of ravens ranging over northern Saskatchewan are keeping fishermen and trappers on the jump. The airborne predators are robbing fish nets, eating fish left on the ice overnight by fishermen, and ruining pelts of trapped fur-bearing animals.

"They're as wily as a wolf," said one trapper. "If you are carrying a gun they keep their distance, but if not they strut around as tame as pigeons."

Water Pipe Ordered For New Housing

Needed For Planned Developments Here

Some of the effects of recently proposed low rent housing in Lincoln were in evidence Monday as the city council approved the city engineering department's estimate of $57,000 for the purchase of cast iron water pipe and fittings.

The pipe, to be purchased on the recommendation of City Engineer D. L. Erickson, also reflects the shortage of such material and the city's need to build a result of the "defense expansion." Erickson told the council that the pipe would not be delivered for probably another eight months. It will be used, along with about the same amount now on hand, to meet the water needs of new housing developments as a result of the "defense expansion" of the city.

One water district in sight now, said Erickson, will be Gladstone from Forty-eighth to Fiftieth and Forty-eighth from Gladstone to Fremont. The approximate 10 car loads of pipe authorized Monday, he said, should take care of all needs of the city for the remainder of this calendar year.

Mayor Victor E. Anderson told the council that "if the city is going into a housing program it should be prepared with enough materials to meet the demand for water service."

Anderson also told the council that he had received a letter from Sen. Hugh Butler and Rep. Carl Curtis in which the city was advised to enter its application with the defense production authority for the classification of Lincoln as

Yugoslavia Given New Grant By America

Fresh Aid To Resist Reds Is Approved

Marshall To Get Badly Needed Raw Materials

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States gave Yugoslavia a new $29,000,000 grant Monday to help Marshall Tito's communist regime stand up against Soviet bloc pressure.

President Truman notified congress he has authorized the diversion of this amount from arms aid funds to enable the Yugoslavs to import critically needed raw materials for their armed forces.

Hides for shoes, and cotton and wool for uniforms are the most urgent needs, officials said. Some machine tools also may be provided, but no military equipment is included. Most of the supplies, officials said, would be obtained in the United States.

Before the chief executive acted, the other north Atlantic pact countries were consulted and gave their assent to the use of aid funds for the purpose.

INDIA BADLY IN NEED OF WHEAT

Secretary of State Acheson made a fresh plea to congress Monday for wheat for India. He said famine is stalking the country.

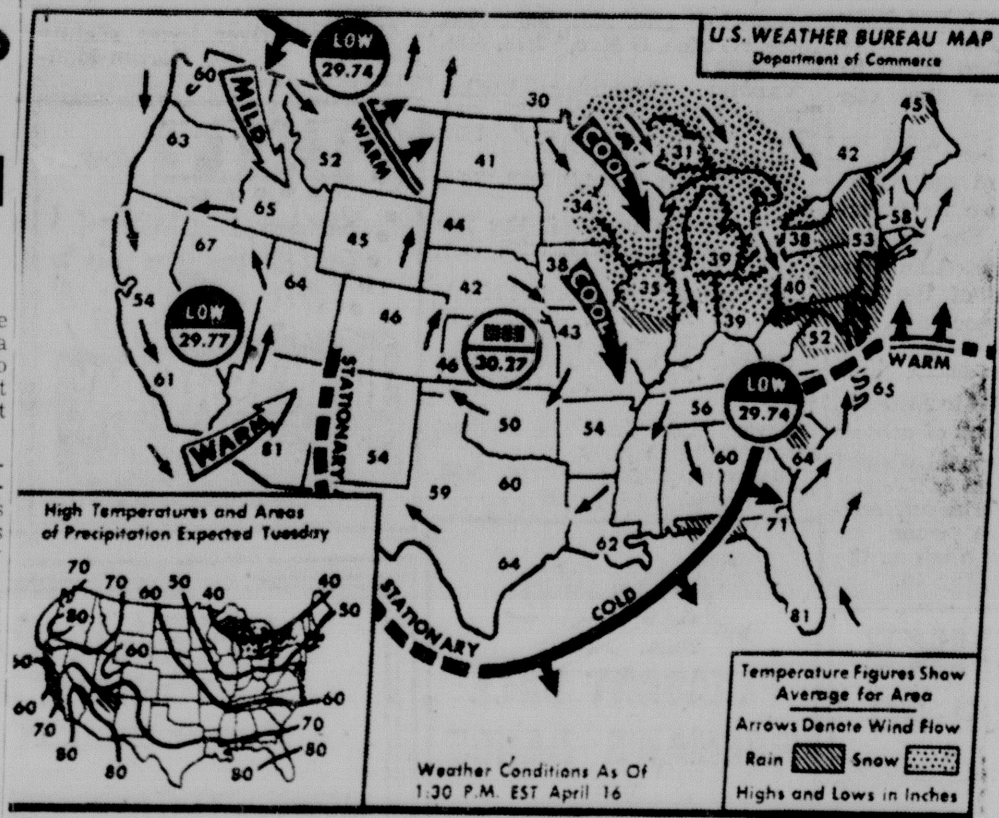

Acheson was closeted with the senate foreign relations committee for more than two hours. At the end of the session, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) reported that no action had been taken so far on an administration bill to give India 2,000,000 tons of grain.

MAY GRAIN EXPORTS WILL SET A RECORD

The agriculture department announced Monday that permits will be issued for export of about 1,929,000 tons or about 74,000,000 bushels of wheat, coarse grains and soybeans in May.

This would be the largest quantity of bulk grains ever shipped from this country in a single month. Officials said it will require more than 200 large cargo ships to transport the grain to its destinations.

Because of a shortage of freight cars, the government has set up a control system under which an exporter must obtain permits for

WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST
The nation will be generally free of precipitation Tuesday, except for snow in the Great Lakes region and a few thunderstorms in northeastern New Mexico. In southern New England and along the California coast some drizzle is expected during the morning. It will be warmer in the Great Plains and Rocky Mountain states and cooler in the southeast states. Reclamation Bond Bill To General File

... With Amendments

The public works committee Monday sent to general file LB 329, the measure giving mid-state reclamation district directors the right to issue revenue bonds without a vote of property-owners in the district.

But first the bill was amended to remove most of the objections made to it at a public hearing held earlier in the session.

At the hearing opponents of the bill feared that income from the bonds levied in the district would be used to finance the bonds, although the bill stated that income from services sold should be used for that purpose.

The amendment provides that the one mill levy may be continued only until development in the district is completed, after which financing must be done by income from services.

Prayer Book Saves Lincoln GI In Korea

Thanks to a prayer book in his hip pocket, a Lincoln soldier in Korea escaped serious shrapnel wounds and is back with his infantry company.

In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Effinger, 1120 Peach street, Pfc. Frank Effinger, 20, wrote that a piece of shrapnel hit him in the eye and another struck his jacket.

The nickel-sized piece that struck his jacket tore a prayer book to shreds but didn't penetrate his body, he wrote from a hospital.

The eye wound became infected, he wrote, but apparently was treated successfully. A letter received Monday morning said he was back with his company (Co. 1, 23rd Infantry Regiment, Second division) just behind the lines.

Pfc. Effinger graduated from Cathedral high school after the family moved here from Seward.

Pleasant Moments in sports BY Bob Considine

THE RACE THAT SETTLED 1,000,000 ARGUMENTS

AT EVERY RACE TRACK in the country the arguments raged: Which was the better horse, War Admiral or Seabiscuit? On Nov. 1, 1938, after four postponements, the two were finally matched in "the race of the century."

FROM A WALK-UP START they broke even, but at the first turn Seabiscuit was two lengths ahead. In the backstretch War Admiral made a gallant try, and they pounded around the last bend head-to-head. Then Seabiscuit took charge, and it was all over. With a tremendous burst of speed, he flashed across the line, the winner by three lengths.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Lack Medical Services
SINGAPORE — (AP) — The chief surgeon at Singapore General hospital says medical services in this British crown colony have "lagged behind the times."

The surgeon, Mr. B. M. Johns, asserted it was "fantastic" that in a colony like Singapore with more than 1,000,000 people there was only one ear, nose and throat specialist to serve the entire island, the Federation of Malaya and surrounding territory.

Johns said there was a tremendous demand for medical services but his department could hardly cope with the situation because of lack of staff and facilities.

Chooses Discretion

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. — (AP) — There were no questions asked when butcher Jack Watson was cutting up some roasts in his shop and a Great Dane "of about Shetland pony size" came in, selected the biggest one and stalked out with the choice cut in its mouth. Watson watched the dog disappear down the street. He said he didn't do anything because of its "unusual size."

Visiting General Praises R.O.T.C. Unit

A two-star general on his way to the Korean front to inspect military police Monday had praise for the R.O.T.C. in general and the University of Nebraska unit in particular.

Major General Edwin P. Parker, jr., provost marshal general, left Lincoln late Monday after inspecting M. P. units in the Nebraska R.O.T.C.

"The military police are more active in combat now than ever before," he said. "In Korea many companies have been fighting as infantry, have been used as combat patrols and have seen action clearing out road blocks."

The R.O.T.C.—"one of our finest methods of defense"—is giving men training that is "just what they need to fit the conditions of combat."

The emphasis on combat is the main lesson the military police has drawn from the Korean war, Gen. Parker stated.

Pleased With Progress
"I am very much pleased with the type of students and the progress made in training military police here at the University of Nebraska," he added.

but he did say Gen. Ridgway, new far east commander, and Gen. Van Fleet, new Eighth army commander, are both "very outstanding commanders—I fought with them both in Europe."

During World war II, Gen. Parker commanded the 78th Infantry division in combat in central Europe. He joined the army as second lieutenant in 1913, served in the Panama canal zone and in training camp during the first world war.

Gen. Parker leaves Seattle by air Wednesday to inspect MPs in Alaska, Japan and Korea. He plans to return early in May.

Oil Campaign Is Expanding

... Southeast Area

FALLS CITY, Neb. — (AP) — An extensive wildcat oil drilling campaign in southeast Nebraska was announced here Monday by J. E. Palensky and sons, veteran oil men who have producing property in Barada fields.

The first well will be drilled on land about two miles southwest of Salem belonging to the Mary Tiehen estate. Drilling equipment is being moved to the site.

It also was understood here that John Peters and associates will drill several more oil tests in the vicinity of their new Ogle well, south of Dawson, where oil has been found in the Viola limestone.

New Clue Found To Man's History

TEHRAN, Iran—(AP) — A reliable official source said he had been told American archeologists have discovered a cave containing the first known agricultural tools and evidence of the earliest known domestication of animals.

The tools go back 8,000 years, while skeletons in the same cave—in northern Iran on the Caspian sea—are believed to be about 30,000 years old, the informant was told.

The discovery was made about two weeks ago by a group of scientists from the University of Pennsylvania.

The cave may help prove that the Iranian shores of the Caspian were the origin point of civilization.
